DELAY SEEN IN SOLUTION OF QUESTION

Council of Premiers Hears Of Wilson Note at Session

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By the United Press).—The council of premiers resumed its conference in Downing street today with Premier Lloyd George, Paul Hurdon, M. Cambon and the Japanese and Belgian ambassadors attending. The conference started soon after receipt of a despatch from Paris declaring that Hugh Wallace, the American ambassador, delivered a note from President Wilson to the leaders of the Adriatic question. The President's note, according to a despatch from the Allies, stated that the United States cannot continue to interfere in European affairs if the council settles the Adriatic dispute without consulting the American government. The note also objected to the proposals for settlement of the dispute, as forwarded by the Jugo-Slav government in the recent Allied note, the despatch said. The council of premiers agreed to a reply to Wilson's note before Premier Millerand's departure for Paris. A news agency despatch from Paris today quoted a number of the Millerand party as saying: "The general impression prevailed in French circles, the despatch said, that Wilson's intervention in the Adriatic had complicated greatly settlement of the Adriatic question. President Wilson is substantially right," the Times said today in commenting on the President's note to the council of premiers threatening American withdrawal from European affairs if the Washington government is not satisfied with settlement of the Adriatic dispute. "The Allies should pause and reflect before they place themselves in a position which might lead the President to conclude their adoption of his principles at the time of the armistice was a mere mask of predatory ambitions," the Times continued.

"We are persuaded that in the highest interests of Europe, the United States and humanity at large continued co-operation on the part of America is desirable. We cheerfully trust the Allied statesmen will give the President's intimation their ripest and most generous consideration." The Star believed President Wilson is right and "if the British government has an ounce of wisdom in its mental outfit it will back him up."

"Lawyers follow stiff legal conceptions of right which often have threatened the world with calamity," the Daily News said today in commenting on the virtual dismissal of Secretary Lansing from President Wilson's cabinet.

Supreme Council Is Angered Over 'Leak'

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Members of the Supreme Council of the Allies are known to be considerably annoyed over the publication of alleged reports of its decisions, principally in French newspapers, and are prepared to have Lord Rober Carr ask in the House of Commons who is responsible. An individual authorized to speak for the council said today that the "leaks" on President Wilson's Adriatic note, the fate of Constantinople and the alleged conduct of the state department were contrary to an agreement for secrecy made by the council. It is plainly evident that the bulletin of the fact that President Wilson had sent a new note on the Adriatic question was an unpleasant surprise in official quarters here. M. Trumbitch, the Jugo-Slav foreign minister, held a long conference with Ambassador Davis on this subject. The minister declined to affirm or deny that a reply had been handed him to be forwarded to Washington.

London Treats Note In Sensational Light

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Up to noon today the reply of the Allied supreme council to President Wilson's note relative to the proposed Adriatic compromise was not been dispatched to Washington, it was learned after a meeting of the council today.

Order for Railroad Tieup is Rescinded

Official notification of the postponement of the railroad strike called originally set for February 17 has been received by the Oakland Maintenance of Way Union. It reads: "You have been notified that all members of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees and railway shop laborers would strike February 17 at 12 P. M. This order was issued by the grand president under authority conferred upon him by the grand executive committee and was in accordance with the result of a strike vote and of the endorsement of general chairman of all system divisions."

"A committee under this authority was sent to Washington instructed to notify the director general of railroads that a strike would be called off if a wage increase was not granted. After consulting with many high officials who are true friends of the railway workers, the committee unanimously recommended the canceling of the strike order."

HOUSEWIVES OVER STATE ORGANIZING

Plans for the organization of a Housewives' League in Piedmont will be perfected this week, according to the announcement of officers of the Housewives' Leagues of California, which was founded last week in the effort of the women to combat the high cost of living. Marjorie is swinging into line with prominent names under way for organization. Branches of the state body have already been formed in Palo Alto and Santa Clara. Mrs. Edward T. Scanlon, president of the State Federation of Housewives' Leagues, predicted today that the next few weeks would recruit a half million women in the war on unfair prices. Mrs. Scanlon declared that auxiliary leagues, to the state body would immediately be organized in San Diego, Sacramento and Los Angeles.

Petitions to urge Governor William D. Stephens to call a special session of the Legislature at which legislation to reduce the high cost of living would be considered are being circulated today throughout the leagues. The campaign is launched by Mrs. Scanlon and her co-workers. The leaders are confident that they can obtain in a short time thousands of signatures to which the State's executive must give heed. Oakland Housewives' League by official action has not yet signified its intention of joining with the State body. The work of the organization convention will be offered to the executive board immediately and to the members at the next regular meeting. While Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon and Mrs. H. J. Platts, members of the Oakland body have been elected to the State board, and Mrs. S. F. Emery appointed a director, ratification of the California Federation has not been made. Berkeley Housewives' League last week refused to endorse the convention and called for a new conference for the purpose of State organization.

With Alameda, Richmond and San Francisco leagues signifying their willingness to remain with the present State organization, the officers have put into operation active plans directed toward reducing costs.

SYNDICALIST CASE STIRS ARGUMENT

evidence as against this defendant is not true nor is it material. The evidence of the character of the I. W. O. organization is against that organization, not against the defendant. The phrasing of the act under which she is being tried and the endorsement of her party of the I. W. O. is shown to be an arrangement of her personal conduct to a picture of what the Industrial Workers of the World stand for and of what they do. Coglianini, in reply, alleged that no conspiracy between the I. W. O. and Miss Whitney had been adduced, and that upon such grounds the prosecution could not hope to introduce evidence against the defendant. He claimed that Miss Whitney had introduced into the Communist State convention, held at Loring Hall November 3 of last year, resolution which attacked the principles of the I. W. O. and promulgated instead a defense of political action to achieve political change. Twice the opposing attorneys got into a quarrel over the resolution from which they were excommunicated from the court. Once the court settled an incipient battle of wits by the remark: "For the purposes of this case all of you gentlemen will be considered good-looking."

Ultimately the court took the whole question under advisement with promise of a decision later. Albert Counts and Jack Dymond, former I. W. O. members, were to be recalled for further direct examination in case the court decided in favor of the prosecution. Whichever side it favored their cross-examination was still before the court.

It was expected the people would reach either this afternoon or tomorrow morning. The defense contemplates taking not longer than a day, after which almost a day will be devoted to argument. The indication today was that the case would reach the jury on Wednesday or Thursday.

MRS. GATES IS WELL AND HAPPY

Was Run Down and Had No Appetite—Is Like Different Persons Since Taking Tanlac.

"Tanalac did so much for husband that I began taking it, and now I am happy to say that it has completely restored me to health also," was the statement made recently by Mrs. Florence M. Gates of 635 East Avenue 60, Los Angeles.

"My health has been extremely poor for nearly a year," she said, "and I felt so tired and worn-out all the time that I went about expecting to give out just any day. My muscles ached and I had a constant pain in my back. I had such a poor appetite that often I would go to the table and get up and leave without eating more than two or three bites. I lost weight, my complexion turned yellow and I became so weak that my housework was a burden. I was almost beyond endurance."

"As I said, my husband had taken Tanlac with such wonderful results that I decided to try it, and right from the first few doses I began to improve. My appetite returned and now I am enjoying my meals because everything agrees with me. The pains in my muscles and back have all disappeared and I can do my housework without any trouble at all. My complexion has cleared up, and I am gaining in weight every day and I am enjoying perfect health. My husband praises Tanlac all the time and since it has done so much for me I feel it my duty to tell others about this wonderful medicine."

Tanalac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet today continued the temporary injunction at the Moore shipyards in Oakland, directed against former employees, union officials and others, restraining them from interfering with the operation of the yard by duress, threats of violence, picketing or any other medium.

None of the defendants or their attorneys were in court when the case was called today. When the petition for a restraining order was filed a week ago Judge Van Fleet issued a temporary restraining order and set today to determine whether a temporary injunction should be issued. At that time none of the defendants appeared in court. On the same day representatives of the shipyard workers issued a statement in which they expressed the belief that there was nothing to be gained by them in combating the injunction and that it was, they said, inevitable that the injunction would be issued, as in the Bethlehem and Shaw-Bulfinch yards in San Francisco.

DISCOVERY OF SUGAR FIRS IS MADE IN B. C.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Discovery of the growth of sugar on fir trees in British Columbia, as announced in the current number of the American Forestry Magazine. The discovery, which is said to be of great value to chemists, came as the result of the investigation of Prof. John Davidson, chief of the botanical department of the University of British Columbia, at Vancouver.

Specimens of the product upon analysis are said to have indicated the presence of a large percentage of an extremely rare variety of sugar. While fir sugar is not expected to become a factor in the food supply, like the product of the cane and the beet, the article advances the belief that it will prove valuable for experimental purposes. Indiana have made use of the sugar in British Columbia for many years, the article states.

INCREASE IS OFFERED TO DR. BRODRICK

The board of supervisors today voted to extend Dr. R. G. Brodrick, a new county hospital in Alameda county and consultant in the construction of the $2,000,000 Highland hospital, at a salary of $3000 a year. This represents an advance of $1,000 over the $2,000 he received during the present year of his service, which will end March 11. Dr. Brodrick came from San Francisco, where he has been supervising the construction of the new hospital. His salary there was $2000 a year and maintenance, but this included quarters and provision for himself and family as an automobile, a cook and a maid, besides any medicines or nursing desired. He has declared that he could not meet the same expense on the salary paid him here.

The expense to the county for Dr. Brodrick's first year here was only $1200, as County Architect H. H. Meyers agreed to pay the other $1800 out of his fee for supervising the construction of the new hospital.

Dr. Brodrick had obtained a leave of absence from San Francisco, and had not yet decided whether or not he would accept the new offer. He said today he would take it under advisement, but it is generally believed there is no question as to his acceptance, as he previously has stated that the opportunity to do something big in the construction of the new hospital and the establishment of a modern system of institutions in the county strongly appealed to him.

Harrison S. Robinson of the county institutions commission addressed the board and strongly commended Dr. Brodrick's services and his value to the county.

Chairman John F. Mullins of the board of supervisors said that $5,000 of the money to be paid Dr. Brodrick should be charged to his personal account for the year.

He said it is customary to employ an expert, such as Dr. Brodrick, to assist the architect, at a cost of 1 1/2 or 2 per cent, which even at the low figure would amount to a expenditure of $30,000 in the five years required to build the hospital. He said Dr. Brodrick had done wonders with the county's medical institutions and for the laymen time in many years they are coming to be on an efficient, satisfactory basis.

Funeral Held for Rev. G. C. Reynolds

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—With Armenian orphans whom he saved from the Turks paying tribute to his memory, last rites were said yesterday at the First Congregational church for Rev. George C. Reynolds, for many years medical missionary in Armenia.

Dr. Reynolds' ashes were sent to Fresno, Fresno county, this morning for interment in the cemetery. His remains were sent to Van Arman, for interment beside the body of Mrs. Reynolds, who died during the same year. Dr. Reynolds was 71 years old and was educated both as a physician and surgeon and minister. During the Civil War he served as a surgeon in the United States Navy.

Armenian Life Will Be Depicted in Play

A play of Armenian life, in which the costumes will be a special feature, will be put on by pupils of Mrs. Mabelle Names Carlson at Clavson school, on Friday evening. The cast is to include twenty young people. An address by Robert Robinson, community singing and a stereoscopic lecture on conditions in the Near East will be included. The program is arranged by Mrs. Maude Lane Anderson, vice chairman of the Near East relief. There is to be no admission charge and the public is invited. It is announced today that Oakland has adopted 100 of its quota of 400 Armenian orphans.

Garden Hose Saves Home From Burning

Fire was caused by an electric iron in an upstairs bedroom in the home of Dr. J. H. Steinman, 800 Valle Vista avenue, this morning. The damage was $700 and was not caused by a fire in a garden hose which the family turned on the blaze before the department arrived.

AUTO THEFT HALTED

An automobile theft by three youths was nipped in the bud yesterday morning. Emil Hagstrom, owner of the machine, happened to glance out of the front window just in time to see one of the boys at the wheel with the other two pushing it away from the street. The auto was standing in front at 432 Clifton avenue.

PIERCE ARROW "The First Fifty"

TRUCK NO. 15, Strenuous usage by the City of Seattle has not daunted Truck No. 15, which since January 1, 1919, has run more than 90,000 miles. It has survived adverse operating conditions in remarkably good condition for further year of running. Four general overhauls have been given the truck during its long life. The city government is so satisfied with results yielded by the truck that it has ordered an additional unit. Pierce-Arrow units since the long life of this veteran is doubly impressive when the nature of its work is considered. The mechanism of the unit is engineered for extended periods with minor street refuse, and yet the parts have withstood this abuse remarkably well. Its performance is equally with that of the newer trucks.

Food Draft

TO THE HONORABLE RELIEF ADMINISTRATION BOARD

I hereby deliver on presentation to the Honorable Relief Administration Board, the sum of $100.00, for the purpose of purchasing food for the relief of the people of the United States.

Signature: _____

Date: _____

Food for friends in Europe

The food draft solves the problem of sending relief to your friends and relatives in Europe.

You here in America can buy food from a warehouse in Europe through this draft. Send this food draft or receipt of your purchase to your friends in Europe—they then can draw food from the warehouse to the amount you have indicated.

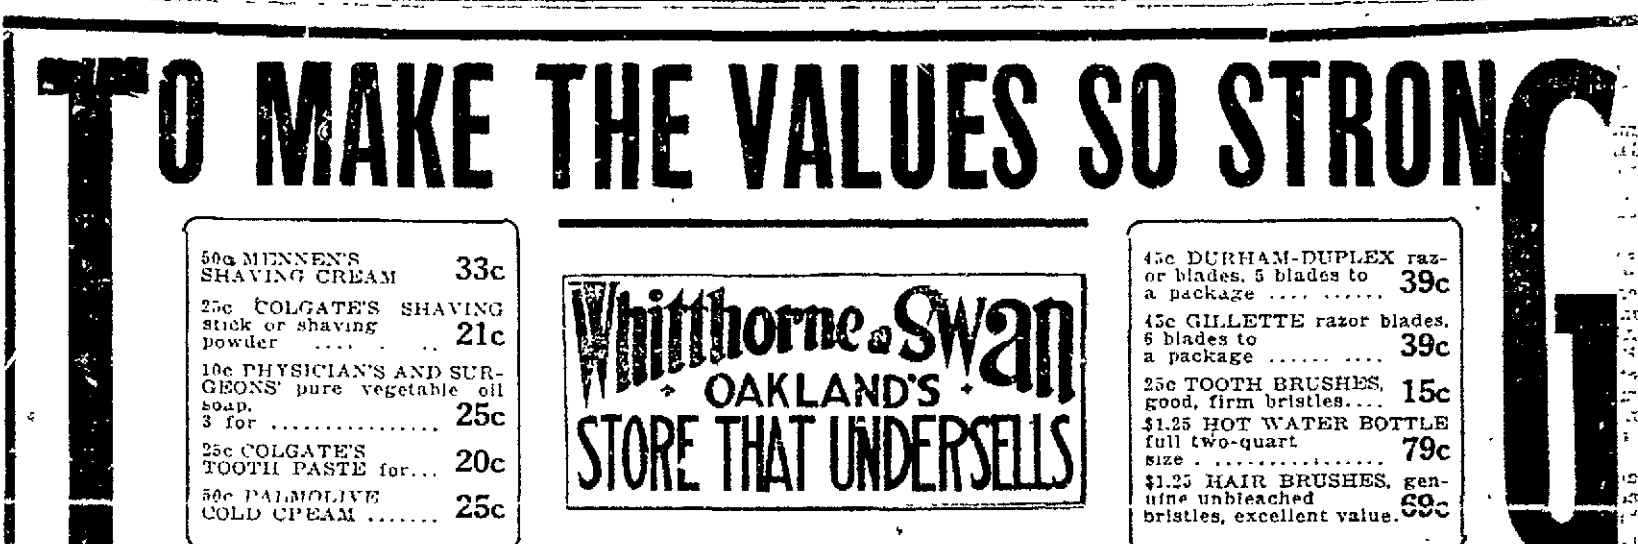

It's a Hoover plan worked out through the American Relief Administration. Through this organization great warehouses in Hamburg, Warsaw, Vienna, Prague and Budapest have been stocked with flour, beans, bacon and other provisions for it's food—not money—that Europe begs.

The Central National Bank, without any charge, will issue Food Drafts on any of these warehouses upon payment of the amount of the draft. They will be honored, not at European food prices, but at American factory prices plus transportation and insurance costs.

Food Drafts may be sent for general relief if you have no friends or relatives in these starving countries.

SEARIGHTS VIOLATED, IS CLAIM MADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Charging that Great Britain is interfering with or ignoring the Monroe Doctrine by preventing the sailing from British ports of the German ship Bahia Blanca, loaded with cargo for the United States, because of a claim to ownership of the vessel, Representative Britten, Republican of Illinois, today introduced a resolution in the House demanding an investigation of the matter by the state department.

Great Britain to violate the Monroe Doctrine as well as American rights on the high seas, prior to the American participation in the European war under the guise of war necessity," said Britten.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASING TO TRIBUNE.
The sailing of the former German ship Bahia Blanca for New York, scheduled for yesterday, has been indefinitely postponed. It was admitted at the foreign office that word had been received that the new British minister to Argentina, James W. R. MacLay, now on his way to Buenos Aires, is bringing a communication concerning the attitude of the Allies toward the status of the steamship whose purchase by Argentina during the war has never been recognized, the question being submitted to the reparations commission of the J. W. R. strike at Birmingham.

The Bahia Blanca has been consigned to ten North American concerns who are said to have notified the shipping that they are willing to assume the risk of possible capture of the vessel by a British or French warship. It is learned that local insurance companies have declined to insure against its capture.

There were twenty in the band which took charge of the freight train. The others escaped. The men, boarded the train about fifty miles off of the city and when ordered off drew guns and refused.

Wieler Will Go to Trial on Criminal Syndicalism Charge

With both charges probably consolidated, John G. Wieler, alleged sender of bomb notes to Captain of Detectives Walter J. Petersen, and alleged member of the resolutions committee of the Communist Labor Party, will be placed on trial tomorrow in the Superior Court. As the Whitney trial is now before Judge James C. Quinn and the Stewart murder trial is in progress before Judge Lincoln S. Church, another court not yet selected will hear the case of Wieler.

Liberty Plant Sale Suit For $30,000 Commission on

The suit of George L. Sessions, 116 Federal building, for $30,000 alleged due as commission for the sale of the Liberty Plant to the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation for $1,000,000, began before a jury in Judge Dudley Kinsey's court today. The defendants are the Pacific Improvement company and the Oakland Waterfront company.

Sessions is suing under an agreement alleged to have been entered into on June 21, 1917, whereby he was to receive 3 per cent commission on all property sold by him for the defendant companies. He alleges that he received commissions on other sales made under this agreement. Sessions declares he carried on negotiations with Captain Pillsbury, chairman of the United States Shipping Board in San Francisco, which culminated in the sale of the Liberty Plant.

BRYAN OUTLINES PARTY PLATFORM

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 16.—The Plain Dealer today publishes an in-depth analysis of the platform of William Jennings Bryan, obtained by its staff correspondent at Miami, Fla., in which the former Democratic candidate for president names the principal planks he hopes to incorporate in the Democratic national platform at the San Francisco convention.

Bryan says he does not attempt to dictate, but merely summarizes his beliefs and opinions as a result of his study of the political pulse. He lists the following important planks in the following order:

- Indorsement of the administration of President Wilson.
- National prohibition.
- Woman suffrage.
- Opposition to enforcement military training.
- Opposition to profiteering.
- Taxation.
- Public ownership.

Bryan practically predicted the elimination of Governor Edwards of New Jersey and soldier candidates on both sides for the presidential nomination.

MOVEMENT STARTED FOR MATRIARCHAL GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Launch of a movement for a political party to put the United States under a "matriarchal" form of government with a woman for President and women at the head of all important departments was announced yesterday by Mrs. Nellie E. Van Slingerland of 90 Bank street, president of the Daughters of Michigan.

Mrs. Van Slingerland asserted that "matriarchy" existed among primitive people before the patriarchal form, and declared that the feminine cycle was again approaching. Opposition to war and the establishment of an international court were stated to be the principal planks in the platform of the proposed matriarchal party.

Other planks are mothers' pensions, child protection, prison reform, the certification of divorcees, contemplating marriage, women judges for children's courts, universal divorce laws and a single standard of morals.

"The present cycle must install a matriarchy," said Mrs. Van Slingerland, "to exercise a protectorate over the male population, which seems to have lost all sense of civilization and to have reverted many degrees below the savage."

MILLS COLLEGE ROSTER LARGE

Registration at Mills College for the spring term has reached 430, according to figures given out from the office of the college registrar, a total which exceeds all previous registration at Mills.

The spring term has nearly two weeks of the college officials and themselves confronted with a problem for the fall term of 1920. Already there are on the list in the registrar's office all persons interested in excess of the number of vacancies in prospect, so that the college is faced with the necessity of maintaining a waiting list for young women eager for admission.

In 1916, when the present college administration assumed office, there were enrolled 350 students, the largest number on record up to that time. Since that date the registration has increased to more than 400, with every available bit of dormitory space occupied.

Two new dormitories, capable of housing 150 students, have been put up in the last year and a half, but these are inadequate to meet the demand for the fall term.

Applications for admission have come from young women whose homes are as far east as Chicago, while from the Pacific Coast states, where the representation has more than doubled in the last year, there are scores of girls seeking to be entered in the freshman class.

Registration this year shows 37 courses in California with 27, Washington following with 20, and Texas coming fourth with seven. There are 15 foreign countries.

Registration from the leading cities of California shows Oakland, 31; Berkeley, 27; Stockton, 17; Sacramento, 15; Fresno, 14; Alameda, 13; Pasadena, 12; Riverside, 11; Santa Barbara, 10; Watsonville, 1 each, and San Jose, 3.

B'nai B'rith Session to Initiate Big Class

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—With a formal banquet and dance at the Hotel Alhambra, the fifty-seventh annual convention of the B'nai B'rith will close tomorrow evening. Tonight an initiation of more than 200 candidates will be held at the B'nai B'rith temple in downtown Los Angeles, and the installation of the grand lodge officers will be completed tomorrow.

After a business session at B'nai B'rith hall in this city, the 400 delegates to the convention held a national service at the Jewish Orphan Home Huntington Park. Rev. Dr. Sigmond Hecht, rabbi of the congregation B'nai B'rith, read the Jewish sanctification for the dead.

Two names of illustrious Jewish dead were mentioned, Victor Abraham of Cincinnati, and Frank Sperling of San Francisco were eulogized by Louis L. Solomon and I. G. Asher.

And the good time ideal today is very expensive. It costs tremendously to meet its demands. It is said to be that this is one of the largest factors in holding up the high cost of living. Shrewd speculators know that they can bank on the American sense of indulgence and extravagance good time notions.

But Christ does not deny human nature the opportunity for a good time. What he would do is to change the character and elevate the tone of the good time ideal. He does not repress good time instincts, but gives them a higher and nobler outlet, and thus the whole world to enjoy without sin."

MARSHALL SEEKS CONVENTION SEAT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Vice-President Marshall, in a letter to E. G. Hoffman of Fort Wayne, Ind., secretary of the Democratic national committee, made public last night, announced his candidacy as delegate-at-large from Indiana to the coming San Francisco convention upon "an old-time Democratic platform."

In view of the political gossip that Vice-President Marshall is slated to become chairman of the Democratic platform committee, his letter was read with especial interest by on-lookers here.

"Another presidential campaign impends," Marshall wrote. "Thus far the President, who is the chief executive officer, has not been dependent to express his opinion as to what the issues will be. As I am desirous of being a delegate-at-large from the state of Indiana I wish, in connection with what I have said upon the part of the unfaltering Democrats of Indiana."

"The war is now over and the rehabilitation of America, as well as the rest of the world, is taking place. It is not possible to accomplish our rehabilitation other than through the instrumentalities of political parties. How shall the Democratic party propose to rehabilitate the political system of America, if entrusted with power, is the question."

"I have watched in other countries the effect of the so-called unbridled democracy and I have seen its menace in this country, until I am quite convinced that the people of America must rest finally upon a few ancient and time-honored Democratic doctrines."

"The Democratic party should pledge itself to rebuild the American political structure along this line by clearly dividing its citizens into the law-abiding and law-breaking; making its laws rest equally upon all men; permitting the honest citizen to succeed by honest methods; giving to no citizen legislative advantage; speedily punishing by crooked and dishonest means; recognizing that this is still a federation of states; demanding that the states discharge the duties of local self-government; resisting the usurpation of a general government; removing corrupt and biased judges, but standing always for obedience to the decrees of courts and to constituted authority."

WOMEN APPOINTED TO DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Helen Grenfell of Denver and Mrs. Overton G. Ellis of Tacoma, Wash., have been added to the membership of the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee. It was announced today by Homer Cummings, national chairman.

Other women in the list given out by Cummings are: Mrs. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., wife of the Secretary of the navy.

Mrs. John L. Cunningham of Louisville, Ky.
Mrs. Pattie Ruffner Jacobs of Birmingham, Ala.
Mrs. John K. Outley of Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Elizabeth Marbury of New York city.
Mrs. Beverly B. Mumford of Richmond Va.
Miss Caroline R. Rees of Greenwood, Colo.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks of Chicago.
Mrs. Stiles W. Burr of St. Paul.

Six additional appointments will be made in the near future. Cummings said, making a total of seventeen, which will correspond to the seventeen men members of the executive committee.

The AMERICAN OAKLANDS BUSY THEATRE

MY HEART and HUSBAND by ADELE GARRISON

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

My reception at the Bayview high school when I returned to my duties after my week's enforced absence was as gratifying as it was unexpected. True, Mr. Stockbridge, Miss Holcombe and a number of the other teachers had been solicitous in frequent telephone inquiries concerning my condition after my accident. And there had come an exquisite cluster of carnations from Alice Holcombe, which seemed to me to typify the spicy fragrance of her sturdy yet tender nature. But I was unprepared to find the cups, by no means covered with flowers, the gifts of my pupils, and to find the teachers waiting to welcome me as warmly as if I had been among them years instead of weeks. If my vanity instead of my affection had been warmed by the demonstration it would have later received a serious blow, for I was long before I saw clearly that while I still had reason to glow at my own popularity, yet a good share of the unusual interest evinced in me was due to the glamour that invested me as the wife of a picturesquely heroic American ace.

"Now see here, lady," the irrepressible Bess Dean declared, when at noon the teachers who didn't live near the school house were gathered in the comfortable teachers' sitting room for their luncheon. "You've got to come across. Here we were simply waiting with our mouths wide open to hear about that wonderful hero husband of yours, and then instead of showing up here a week ago to save us from dying of curiosity you up and smash your head or your heels—I haven't got it straightened out yet which—and we have to wait all this time to listen to you. Now begin at the beginning. Does he look like his pictures in the paper, or—"

"NO MORE DOUBTS!" "Might I suggest, Bess," drawled Alice Holcombe in her most provoking manner, "that as you so elegantly express it, our mouths are wide open—painfully so—for some coffee, for which we've been waiting for some time. If you'll either represent your curiosity for a few more minutes or let somebody else attend to the coffee, Mrs. Graham may be in a better humor to talk." "With an impertinent move, Bess Dean turned to the small electric grill upon which every noon the teachers in turn prepared coffee, tea and bouillon to supplement the cold lunches they brought from their several homes or boarding places. "I want you to understand, Alice Holcombe," she said loftily, deftly pouring the coffee into the cups before her, "that my mentality is of these careless girls than I could have out my hand off for them. Alice Holcombe promptly came to the rescue. "Tastes in tattooing sometimes differ, Bess," she drawled. "I don't share your belief that Mrs. Graham has her husband's photograph sewed into her dress. But I know she'll bring some of him in uniform tomorrow if she has them."

"I'll do more than that," I said with a grateful look at Alice Holcombe. "I'll go through my husband's collection of photographs which he acquired over there, and bring the most interesting and some of the souvenirs over tomorrow of the first day I can to show you. I intend to let my pupils see them anyway."

"What's the matter with bringing friend Husband over and putting him on exhibition?" Bess Dean asked audaciously. "Now you needn't frown at me in that tone of voice, Alice Holcombe. You know perfectly well I'm only the municipal council."

anticipating Kenny by an hour or two. She turned to me in laughing explanation. "Kenny is simply nuts about having celebrities talk to the school and then entertaining them afterward," she said. "And it so happens that dear little Millie, just back from being 'on punishment' in the sanatorium, will be on her best behavior for a month or two. Therefore, you can wager your last cent that Kenny's planning this very minute just how best to put his invitation up to you."

The Cost of Collecting Bills

This company renders approximately 66,000 bills a month. Over 17,000 of these are mailed, at the request of consumers: here alone, including stamps, envelopes, inserting, sealing, and mailing, is an expense that amounts to thousands of dollars a year.

Other consumers request that their monthly bills be presented at their homes—here another expense is added. It is costly to send men after the money—their work is necessarily slow—there are receipts to sign, entries to be made, money to be changed.

It is not possible in the water business, as in many businesses, to be lenient with those who have previously been good pay and strict with those who are continually slow. All must be treated alike, and our rules and regulations, authorized by the Railroad Commission, governing water service and charges, must be rigidly adhered to.

The collection of bills is costly and necessarily affects the cost of water, yet so systemized is this department, that the operating expense for such service is kept at a very low cost per bill.

We know there's a lot of business going East—a lot of dollars dropping into Eastern pockets, that could just as well be kept right here in the West. We've adopted what we think is a mighty sensible Golden Rule for this Golden West of ours—"Keep Coast Dollars West." We're bringing products from about twenty Los Angeles houses which will include about sixty different lines—just as big a selection of unsurpassed merchandise at just as low a price as you'll find anywhere in the East. We invite you to come and meet our representatives and executives.

We're on our way—and we're coming fast. Let's get together—"The Coast for the Coast."

We'll be at Hotel Oakland Thursday, February 19th, to show you:—

BEYOND FURTHER HURT.

In its violent opposition to the demands of the Allied governments for extradition of those Germans charged with crimes against the laws of war and civilization, in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, the German government adds to the false claim of physical inability to surrender the accused criminals the high-sounding assertion that to do so would not be compatible with German honor. Thus the impenetrable quality of the German mind is again thrown into relief. The inability to comprehend the sheerest fact and the most obvious virtue is disclosed as it so often was during the war.

To the ordinary mind, the mind that functions in the normal manner and reacts favorably to usual tenets and moral formulae of civilized man, Germany is without honor. She lost it, destroyed it, threw it away in the war. She wasted it in the unholy fires of her cruel ambition. A thing compatible with the German conception of honor is automatically detestable, to be repulsed as a contaminating evil.

If the honor of which the Berlin cabinet volubly speaks was of the quality comprehended by a God-fearing civilization it could not be served by shielding a single responsible officer guilty of the atrocities committed by the German army. It would demand the forthright surrender of the guilty as the only possible and practicable explanation of the crimes of the nation.

If Germany opposes now that justice which she pleaded for after the armistice and which was exemplified in the peace treaty she will only ingratiate her dishonor. She will practice again the scrap of paper policy which caused her such grievous loss and shame.

There are indications that the protests against fulfillment of the peace treaty is inspired and maneuvered by those members of the old Prussian military clique who survived the war with some political influence and power. The Hohenzollern hand appears again. Whether or not the German people approve the stand taken cannot be definitely stated, but plainly the propaganda to make them believe in the righteousness of the Ebert government is exceedingly active.

It is a situation in which the German people need to think seriously and intelligently if they would save themselves from further hardships. The plea of their government that the criminals cannot be surrendered is of course false. Herr Noske, Minister of War and chief of the military establishment, no doubt will be reminded by the Independent Socialists of his ability to break up huge assemblies of agitators against his regime and to otherwise harass persons of less notorious record than the Prussian war lords.

The importation of Australian mutton, New Zealand beef, Chinese eggs and Danish butter are evidences of a general effort to get from under the high cost of living. These, however, affect home products. The advance in the price of coffee is different. Three-quarters of the coffee consumed in this country comes from Brazil, or did come from that country until a few months ago. Then the boosting of prices by growers (who got the wink from the government) through storing some 2,000,000 bags, had the effect of stimulating importations from other countries. Although the popular palate was gauged to the Brazilian product, it is getting used to other grades—that of Porto Rico, for instance, preferred by the French, who are coffee connoisseurs. It is a striking illustration of the fact that there is a limit to exactions—though it is to be said the limit seems to be at a likable distance.

All sorts of expedients are being devised, suggested, recommended and adopted to head off boost prices and the consequences thereof, but the most original is that proposed by a Dr. Taylor, food expert and economist, who suggests that we change our diet. He holds that what we eat is excessively expensive and could be materially cheapened without being in the least deteriorated. The idea at once occurs that what never might be settled upon in a diet that is new in vogue, this coming into universal demand, would invite the price boost just the same as those articles of food that are now popular. This is borne out by the rise in the price of the commonest article of present day food, the potato, and in the fact that tomatoes last summer attained the same price level as peaches. It is much to be doubted if Dr. Taylor's remedy would meet the emergency.

APPRECIATIVE AMERICA.

Regardless of what has been the occasion of the invasion of America by the literary celebrities of Europe they are finding here much to amaze and please them. Doubtless there must be an allowance made for a natural courtesy and a desire to say something pleasing of a country and a people who have accorded so genuine a welcome and yet there are in their agreement of expression and determination to prolong their visits, much that we may take as compliment.

"It is only in your country that my attempts have been appreciated. I have no fame in England," said Lord Dunsany in New York the other day and with greater or less force that has been the sentiment of all. Hugh Walpole was one of the first to come and there followed John Drinkwater, to see the presentation of his play; Blasco Ibanez, now in San Francisco; Maeterlinck and Granville Barker. John Galsworthy came over to deliver the Lowell lecture, and Walter de la Mare, a poet whose children's poems are almost Stevensonian, was in America long enough to accept for the family of Rupert Brooke the honors an eastern college had conferred.

All of these men, save Maeterlinck, have expressed surprise at the American appreciation and knowledge of European literature. They say that over here their average auditor knows more of letters than does the occasional one in England and affirm that they have gained most valuable impressions and experiences in this country.

California has been particularly favored by the invaders in that Ibanez is spending the greater part of his time in this State and that he has outlined no less than three novels that shall have to do with California. Granville Barker, playwright, critic, producer and actor, and an outstanding figure for the betterment of dramatic expression, is to speak in Oakland Monday night at which time the Eastbay will have its opportunity of expressing its appreciation and interest in the best in modern literature.

In connection with the visits of these men it is recalled that a route through this bay offered a genuine lure to J. M. Barrie. After Stevenson had written his fellow Scot to visit him at Valima, "Take the boat at San Francisco and then my place is the second on the left," Barrie said, "I regret it above all other things. It was the only spot in the world I had a craving to visit."

DID HE TRY IT ON HIMSELF?

George Creel has hit upon a way to appear simultaneously in almost all of the popular magazines. In private life the former director of public information is not to be downed by the mere loss of office nor even by the whims and preferences of editors.

It is in a testimonial to a course in mind training that the Creel picture and Creel argument occupies a page of advertising space. Of the course he says, "It teaches how to develop personality, how to build character, how to strengthen personality. It develops individual mentality to the highest power."

It would be more interesting and pertinent to the argument if Creel would reveal when it was that he took this course. If he has made himself over in the last week or two we would not wish to blame the course for the man we used to know.

A Texas immigration inspector springs an idea that is at least worthy of consideration when he expresses the opinion that "soviet arks," such as the ship that recently sailed away with a cargo of anarchists, should go out of port in broad daylight, with flags flying and other glad signs working. He does not believe that secrecy in such a matter is necessary or desirable. Instead of serving any useful purpose it is apt to make anarchists believe that the authorities are afraid of them. It is a fact that of late the leading anarchists are shrewd, and their ideas and promulgations being implicitly accepted by their followers, that such deductions are likely to hearten the malign forces. Deporting anarchists would really seem to be more a matter for rejoicing for the unfurling of the flags, rather than for furtive concealment.

This is an excerpt from one of the big Eastern newspapers, acknowledged exponent of Democracy and until very recent times spokesman for and defender of the national administration: "The activity of William Jennings Bryan has aroused leading Democrats. The suspicion that Mr. Bryan will attempt to load the ticket down with a prohibition and government-ownership platform is growing, and steps are being taken to thwart him. Vice-President Marshall, who will attend the convention as a delegate, will probably be named as Indiana's member of the platform committee." Whence the inference that Marshall is to thwart Bryan. The politically irreverent are likely to consider that in this idea one of the humors of the campaign has been touched off.

With seed potatoes selling around $7 per hundred pounds, there probably will be a smaller average planted next year, unless the progressive, and scientific farmer of the present remembers that effective economy of his forefathers which resulted in fairly good crops being produced from seed ends and peelings.

NOTES and COMMENT

Recent disclosures indicate that a cabinet job has its drawbacks, whatever honor it may be held to confer. Former Secretaries Lansing, Lane and Redfield give volunteer testimony to this fact.

Is Mr. Hoover already at the denial stage? He has seen fit to deny that he is worth ten millions, that he is an English subject, and some other charges. He should not take such things too seriously. If he amounts to enough to be a likely candidate for President somebody is bound to start something like that.

There is not very great surprise that there was not a railroad strike on the date scheduled that would have tied up the country. There were signs that the country would not stand such interruption. It may have been felt that one hundred millions would not be quiescent while a few thousand thus interfered with the orderly process of things.

A Lodi bandit has developed a new characteristic. After invading a home and taking all the household's change he slapped her because she screamed and kicked the baby because it cried. Chivalry should now combine with the coarser police duty in relentless pursuit.

There is a considerable protest against dare-devil feats. Perhaps it is not creditable to the human sensibilities that there is an appeal in such stunts that calls forth auditors in swarms at a good admission fee, but such is the case. And to make big money there are always those willing to risk their lives. Hence the feeling that the law ought to step in.

Chinese New Year's has come around again and the Celestial extracts joy out of the occasion by watching a long chain of firecrackers explode without cracking a smile. It is so different from the way the white man celebrates his New Year's, yet something of the same idea seems to actuate both. The puzzle is as to which has the most fun.

If Villa seizes a dozen Americans and holds them as hostages to be executed in case a Mexican resident of Los Angeles is not surrendered to him, he not having offended against our laws, the Mexican situation would be still more involved, if that were possible—but it isn't possible.

A series of pictures has been published showing how things suits have changed in twenty years. If they keep on shrinking in the same ratio a very interesting picture will be possible in 1940.

It is a matter of news that Greasy Neale is not likely to appear this year with the Cincinnati Reds, the athletic authorities of Marietta College having by the general board offered him $5000 a year to coach.

If Mr. Lansing doesn't use his latest correspondence with the President as justification for shielding his latest correspondence with the President, there is a very appreciable belief that he did not come off second best in the sensational tilt.

The United States must have sent another note to Mexico. Such an inference is drawn from a news item to the effect that that country is expected to explain the detention of line. As usual there is no sign that the Carranza government is experiencing embarrassment or is much interested.

How we forget is illustrated in the fact that we had to be reminded that February 15 was the twenty-second anniversary of the sinking of the Maine, which precipitated the war with Spain. But it is a fact that subsequent happenings have had a tendency to divert the national mind from that incident.

Mexico is suffering from a shortage of small change. We might give her some of ours. It isn't worth anything in this country.—Modesto News.

Sale of rice land has taken a sudden slump this week in Butte county as well as throughout the northern part of the State. The cause being that farmers fear a water shortage heretofore unheard of in this section.—Groville Register.

State highway bonds to the extent of $2,000,000, bearing 4 per cent, will be negotiated February 24, when bids will be opened for the sale of $12,500,000, yesterday said Marshall de Motte, chairman of the State Board of Control. This will insure continuation of the highway building program in several units, of which Woodland and Yolo counties are interested.—Woodland Democrat.

Yolo county has an army of 497 girls and boys, under 21 years of age, working at various pursuits and helping to make and learning how to make the Yolo of the future, a more conspicuous leader than it is today. These figures are official, having been obtained by County Superintendent of Schools Harriet Lee for report to the State educational department.—Woodland Democrat.

The Star is optimistic enough to believe that grapes will bring higher prices next vintage than the average has been heretofore. They will probably not bring as much as they did in 1918, but fully as much or more than last year and prices that will be far better than we older residents of Napa county have, on the average, seen paid. And we are taking this optimistic view in spite of the fact that as matters stand today there is absolutely no real market for wine grapes.—Hefana Star.

Katy would better look out how she goes out after dark in these days when everyone has to have a seal coat.—Waltonville Pajaronian.

CATCHING UP WITH JONAH

"Of all the curious quirks of popular interest engendered by the war perhaps the most surprising is the unprecedented interest in 'FISH,' says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

"There are two reasons why the humble and hitherto submerged fish should suddenly command attention," explains the bulletin. "First, the world is hungry. With starving nations for meat and grain, which are not to be had, it is to be wondered at that men should give thought to fish, which are to be had for the catching? Furthermore, the submarine has given men access to the ocean's depths, and henceforth the ocean's content, as well as water routes, will command the interest of mankind.

"Early manifestations of this interest is to be noted in the founding of the Miami Aquarium Association, at Miami, Fla., which soon is to open a remarkable aquarium which has a two-fold purpose. One aim is to place on exhibition the marvelous variety of fish to be found in the hospitable waters of the Gulf Stream, which contain one-fifth of the entire animal life of the American continent north of Panama. For there are 500 varieties of fish to be found off the Florida coast.

"Did you know that the aquariums at every one of the American expositions—from the Chicago World's Fair to the San Francisco show—attracted more visitors than any other exhibit? Likewise, that in cities where important aquariums now are located there are more visitors attracted to them than to zoological gardens or art museums?

"One asks, why? One might as well ask 'Why is a fish story?' The maligned and neglected fish, similar for the man who lacks red-blooded traits, nevertheless holds a preeminence in animal lore that is equalled only by the love story in human chronicle. And now comes a man, called 'Mare Nostrum,' in which the aquarium scene bids fair to have a literary immortality akin to the octopus struggle in Hugo's 'Toilers of the Sea.'

"In the explanation of this phenomenon lies the scientific interest in fish. Recent discoveries indicate that the ocean depths hold many more varieties of fish than ever were caught; and our knowledge of the ocean is meager.

"One government bureau can tell you approximately how many cattle, and another can estimate how many buffalo and elk roam the western plains. But who can even guess at the hermit off our shores, or what is the annual rate of their catching to their hatching, or how soon the supply will be depleted, or very much about the life, habits and disposition of a hermit?

"And yet all this information about hermit, mackerel, salmon, trout, halibut and scores of other edible varieties of fish may be of tremendous importance in the face of a dry land food production.

"Hence the Miami Aquarium building, soon to be opened, which will be the only one of any size along the Atlantic seaboard, south of Philadelphia, that will have a biological laboratory as one of its important features. It is believed many important discoveries affecting the life between the fauna of the deep sea and the land will be given the world through investigations at the laboratory. Aquarium expeditions for the collection of specimens will be an important feature of the association's work.

"James Aubrey Allison, of Indianapolis, president of the Miami Aquarium Association, soon will announce plans for the formal opening of the Aquarium building and the biological laboratory. The association has been chartered under the State of Florida. Its functions are educational and entirely altruistic.

"The technical director of the institution, Louis L. Mowbray, has made a wide study of aquarium buildings, preparatory to introducing the latest and most complete apparatus for the care and propagation of fish life.

"Other officers of the association are: Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis, well-known fish expert, vice-president; and the secretary and treasurer is John Oliver LaGorce, associate editor of the National Geographic Magazine.

"On the advisory committee of the association are Dr. Hugh M. Smith, U. S. commissioner of fisheries; Dr. Charles Haskins Townsend, director of the New York Aquarium; Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone; Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, and other world-famous scientists whose names will be announced later."

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Why Serious Burns May Be Best Treated by Wax.

By DR. LEONARD K. HINSHBERG, A. B., M. D., M. P. H. (Johns Hopkins University)

A child is warned that he must avoid fire, but, like many of us when advised to make use of knowledge gained by others, a child seldom heeds the admonitions given to him. He usually learns at last by a burn, and, once burned, he gives fire a wide margin of safety.

Burns are a serious business and must be promptly and carefully treated. The old-time, home remedies of linseed oil and soda or butter and some other household staple do little, if any, good. Relief and comfort are quickly obtained, unless the burn is deep or covers a wide area, by means of 1 per cent picric acid in water or a 5 per cent solution of subacetate of aluminum.

William Senger, M. D., of Pueblo, Col., in the American Journal of Surgery, states that no class of wounds has been treated in so many different ways as burns.

Since 500 B. C. warm sterilized waxes have been used in treating burns. Our grandmothers treated burns with a mixture of waxes, tallow and oil of Gilead buds. The wax method was replaced by tar, pitch, paint, varnish, oil, adhesive plaster, wet dressings and powders, which had as the underlying principle the exclusion of air. In recent years the open-air treatment had many advocates. Through this treatment we realized that infection rather than air was the cause of pain.

Out of the war came the paraffin wax treatment. Burns treated under this method heal with extraordinary rapidity. We do not know why this treatment, contrary to modern surgical principles, produces such results. In this treatment we lock up foul secretions containing bacteria, and the patient recovers in half the usual time.

The paraffin treatment of burns immobilizes the wound, protects new flesh, stimulates epithelium growth, greatly minimizes pain and renders subsequent dressing easy and healing much more rapid. It also prevents excessive scar formation.

Severe burns, unless very small, should not be treated by the paraffin method, but the part should be rendered aseptic and the skin graft used to avoid scars.

WANTED—A LEADER.

The United States needs an aviation champion. Apparently there is no one in or out of official life with the proper force of character to lead a campaign designed to awaken the Government and the people to the importance of aeronautics.

We are permitting several European countries to outstrip us in the development of flying machines and when the day arrives when aeroplanes and dirigibles are carrying much of the mail and light express matter, to say nothing of passengers, America will be far behind unless we begin to speed up now. Few Americans realize how extensive is the regular aerial service in certain European countries and how ambitious are the constructive plans. The size and elegance of some of the latest passenger and mail machines shown at the recent Paris exhibition are a revelation to Americans.

It is blind folly for this country to bring up the rear in commercial aviation, one of the certain means of transportation of the immediate future, and it is almost suicidal to neglect to develop military flying machines to protect us against possible aggression.—Brooklyn Standard Union.

SUICIDE AND MISHAP FOR YEAR GROW

Although there were only nine more deaths from violence in 1919 than in 1918, there were twenty more suicides, an increase of more than 25 per cent, and 15 more automobile accidents, an increase of nearly 30 per cent, according to the annual report of Coroner Grant D. Miller, submitted to the board of supervisors today.

The figures show there were 307 deaths from violence in 1919, while in 1918 there were 298, the number having increased gradually from 1915, when there were 261. Suicides in 1919 numbered 92, as against 72 in 1918 and 65 in 1917, while the deaths from automobile accidents last year totaled 67, there having been 52 in 1918 and 49 in both 1915 and 1916, with 39 in 1917. There were only one-third as many deaths from motorcycle accidents last year, there having been three then and nine in 1918.

HOMICIDES ARE SAME.
Homicides show little change, there having been 19 in 1919, though the figures fluctuated in the four previous years, with the same number in 1915, 12 in 1916, 23 in 1917 and 13 in 1918. There was a slight decrease in deaths from street cars and trains, these totaling 24 in 1919, 23 in 1918, 21 in 1917, 27 in 1916 and 29 in 1915.

Patrolmen from industrial accidents show a big falling off, there having been only 37 in 1919, as against 60 in 1918. This is considered due to the unusual amount of shipbuilding activity in 1918, as there were only 49 in 1917 and 20 in 1916.

The total number of cases handled by the coroner during the year were 652, there having been 345 deaths from natural causes passing through the office. In 1918 there were 877 cases handled, with 574 deaths from natural causes. The increased number in 1918 is stated to have been due to the influenza epidemic of that year. There were 312 inquests during 1919 and 303 in 1918.

FIGURES SEGREGATED.
The following shows the segregation of figures in the table of deaths from violence:

Automobile accidents, 67; motorcycle accidents, 3; by street, suburban cars and trains, 24; homicides, 19; infanticides, 2; suicides, 92; accidentally shooting self, 2; accidentally shooting another person, 2; accidental gas asphyxiation, 9; falls, 8; drowning, 6; poisoning, 5; criminal abortion, 3; alcoholism, none; electrocution, 1; accidents with horses, 3; burns and scalds, 11; miscellaneous accidents, 12; industrial accidents not included in foregoing, 37.

The fatalities at the various industrial plants were as follows: Moore Shipbuilding Company, 7; Bethlehem company, 3; Hamilton shipyards, 2; Union Construction Company, 2; Pacific Gas and Electric Co., 1; Southern Pacific Company, 6; Oakland Traction and Key Route, 1; Judson Iron Works, 2.

Wilson would leave her child with him and then stay out until 2 o'clock in the morning and when she returned tell him it was none of his business where she had been, says Melville Woodrow in his divorce suit. He alleges that she demanded to be given spending money although they were in debt.

Speeder Jailed Fines Ordered

The mysterious speed fiend who, with lights out and muffler open, has been burning up the Oakland streets on a motorcycle for the past ten days, and who has been vainly chased by the police, is captured.

First he was tried on a charge of driving his machine without lights. He was found guilty and fined $5 by Judge Edgar. For dashing through the downtown streets with his muffler open he was likewise fined $5.

After the third trial—the third within ten minutes—on a charge of exceeding the speed limit, he was sentenced to two days in jail.

CITY WILL INVITE DESTROYER VISIT

The United States torpedo boat destroyer "Swasey" probably will dock at Oakland wharves on its trip into San Francisco Bay within the next two or three weeks, under arrangements made by the City Council this morning providing free dockage for the vessel and extending the council's invitation to the boat's commander to tie to Oakland dock.

Action was taken by the council at the request of Commissioner Frederick Soderberg, who announced that the destroyer is now in San Diego and will leave soon for this section. One of the ship's officers, a former Oaklander, suggested that the invitation be issued.

Further provision for street improvements scheduled by Commissioner of Streets William J. Bacaus was made by the council today, with the passage of a resolution of intention to improve Twenty-first avenue between East Twelfth and East Fourteenth streets. A contract was also awarded for the improvement of Short street, from Brookdale avenue to Alameda avenue.

Petition for the construction of a spur track of the Santa Fe to serve the Independent Paper Stock Company was presented to the council this morning and referred to Commissioner Bacaus for report.

Books needed for the municipal law library will be purchased by bids, under action taken by the council this morning at the suggestion of Auditor Harry C. Williams. A resolution was passed calling for bids for the supply for the balance of the fiscal year.

Husbands Ask Divorce on Ground of Cruelty

Virginia F. Wilson began to neglect her household duties a week after their marriage, spent $25 of his savings upon her parents and after making derogatory remarks about the wedding presents given by his parents told him to take them back. Silvester G. Wilson alleges in his divorce complaint, Grace E. Wilson would leave her child with him and then stay out until 2 o'clock in the morning and when she returned tell him it was none of his business where she had been, says Melville Woodrow in his divorce suit. He alleges that she demanded to be given spending money although they were in debt.

LICENSING ACT FAILS OF PASSAGE

The proposed new municipal business license ordinance, intended to produce revenue from practically every business in the city to supplant revenue lost through the lack of liquor licenses, failed of final passage by the city council this morning.

Mayor John L. Davis and Commissioner Frederick Soderberg voted against the ordinance, and Commissioner William J. Bacaus was excused from voting after explaining that he was not yet ready to vote on the measure. Commissioner W. H. Edwards, who fathered the ordinance, and Commissioner F. P. Morse registered approving votes.

The result of the balloting, with practically a tie vote, leaves the ordinance on the table and eligible to be brought before the council again at some future time for another vote. The conclusion of the council session, Commissioner Bacaus declared that he will vote on the ordinance later on, and Mayor John L. Davis issued a statement expressing satisfaction over the settlement of the issue and declared that instead of shifting the lost saloon taxation upon business men and merchants, taxes can now be collected from property.

When the ordinance was brought up for final passage this morning, Commissioner Bacaus asked that action be laid over until the last meeting in June, but his motion postponing action until June 15 was lost and the measure was thrown on the table for a vote on final passage.

When the vote was recorded Commissioner Soderberg brought up the question of disposing of the employees in charge of the collection of municipal licenses and the preparation of the ordinance. The positions of Deputy License Collectors Herbert Elder and Frank Law hung in the balance during the discussion that followed Commissioner Soderberg's suggestion that the city clerk be instructed to discharge the two.

"Just as we have done in the past years, through the police department," replied Soderberg. The suggestion drew a complaint from Commissioner F. P. Morse against the police department being used as a license collecting bureau, and his objection was backed by Mayor Davis, with the result that Commissioner Soderberg withdrew his motion.

Commissioner Edwards under whose direction the license ordinance was drawn, and who insisted on the measure, expressing himself after the vote as being glad to have the question settled definitely.

John A. Sands is Dead in Berkeley

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—Following an illness of six months, John A. Sands, well-known Oakland attorney and formerly deputy superintendent of schools both of Oakland and Alameda county, died yesterday at his home, 2031 Prince street, aged 57 years.

For the last twenty-seven years Sands had been engaged in the practice of law in Oakland, with offices in the Oakland Bank of Savings building. Previous to that time he served as deputy school superintendent under J. W. McElmonds, head of the Oakland schools, and Thomas Crawford, county superintendent. He was a graduate of the University of California with the class of 1889 and a member of the Theta Psi fraternity.

Sands is survived by the widow, Pauline Sands, and his mother, Mrs. Emma Sands.

Girl Raps Oglers Co-eds Complain

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—From the modest co-ed on the University of California campus today went out a cry for help. "Naughty" male students on the campus are the dread ogres from which she would be saved—from blushes.

Today's Daily Californian, student paper, contains an appeal to call to other students. Under the pseudonym of "Miss A. B. C." member of the senior class, comes the blushing co-ed voice indignantly for herself and her college sisters. It is to be forced to undergo the "once over" from cruel men students as the co-ed passes back and forth to classes that the anonymous sister objects.

"Just because a few women on the campus dress immodestly or dance in a questionable way, it is fair to the rest of us for the men students to form the habit of making disparaging remarks about any woman who passes by?" is her plaint. "With burning cheeks, we wonder what we could have done to cause such things to be said."

Particularly to the last-year men seated on "senior bench" in front of former North Hall does the co-ed writer object. She declares that lack of support in college activities will be the dearest enemy of the co-ed population of the campus.

VETERANS HOLD EXERCISES FOR MAINE'S HEROES

At the Maine memorial monument in Lakeside Park services were held yesterday for those who lost their lives with the blowups up of the battleship in the harbor at Havana twenty-two years ago. E. H. Lisicum Camp No. 7, United Spanish War Veterans, arranged the ceremonies. Following the service, the veterans marched from the city hall to the park. An address by the commander of the camp, reading by Fred Emerson Brooks and an address by Milton A. Nathan were heard. Julia A. Martin, auxiliary decorated the relics of the Maine in the camp's possession and a salute was fired by a squad of sailors from Goat Island.

WITNESS OF SHOOTING IS UNDER FIRE

An attempt on the part of the defense to utilize the testimony of the prosecution's star witness, John Frankhauser, worked in a local shanty during the war to evade the draft, marked the opening of the Stewart murder case this morning before a "million dollar" jury in Judge Lincoln S. Church's court.

William Stewart, the defendant, is charged with having shot his wife, Mary Stewart, on the night of September 15, 1918, near the Coast League ball park in Emeryville, when he found her walking with Frankhauser, witness for the prosecution.

Frankhauser testified that he had known Stewart at a local shipyard, and that at the same time he had known Stewart's wife through meeting her at an Oakland dance hall when he danced with her without the formality of an introduction. He testified that she at that time was known to him as Miss Porter, and that he did not know that she was Stewart's wife until a short time before the shooting took place. He testified that Mrs. Stewart summoned him to her apartment by telephone on the evening of September 15 and that while walking near the ball park in Emeryville he was confronted by Stewart who fired at him without warning, the bullet taking effect in his right arm. He then ran, he said, and heard Mrs. Stewart scream, "God's sake, don't hit me or my child."

Shortly afterward, according to the testimony, he heard four shots fired, but did not stop. While attempting to show that he was the son of a wealthy parents and that he was working in the shipyard in order to evade the draft, Attorney P. J. Crosby, for the defense, and Deputy Prosecutor Frank Shay indulged in a lengthy word battle.

The defense then attempted to show, through the prosecution witness, that Mrs. Stewart often frequented dance halls and went out with other men while her husband remained home to take care of their four children. Frankhauser testified that Stewart always addressed his wife as "Sweetheart," while she turned called him names and told him to mind his own business.

The defense will endeavor to show that the actions of Mrs. Stewart drove Stewart to a point of insanity.

U. C. Honor System Urged Help of Students Is Asked

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—Acting upon the admonition of President David P. Earrows that a "one hundred percent" honor spirit must prevail at the University of California, a campaign of "education" was inaugurated today by the Daily Californian, student paper on the campus.

Speaking at the first University meeting held this term, Dr. Earrows in his address to the students declared that the honor system inaugurated by students some years ago needed "strengthening." Students catching others cheating in their "exams" were urged to expose the guilty to his class.

Action taken by the undergraduate student affairs committee in co-operation with the student welfare committee follows the president's admonition.

In the first of a series of articles published this morning to acquaint undergraduates with the workings of the students' affairs committee on the campus, the taking of examinations by "proxy" is condemned by the student editors.

A case of a student now before the affairs committee charged with taking an examination for another student is cited as an example of the violation of the honor system.

Other cases of lack of honor will be exposed in following articles with the use of fictitious names.

Comment on the violation of student rules is voiced by the editor, N. S. Gallison, as follows: "How long will it be before the practice of taking examinations by proxy is stopped by the force of public opinion? He must be a strong man destined for a great future who cannot stand on his own feet in the matter of examinations. We must be a fine body of men when public opinion countenances the methods by which some people get along."

Care of Sick Class is Being Organized

Women may register for a new class in home care of the sick next Tuesday and Tuesday, February 24. This is the regular Red Cross course which has been repeated several times by Miss Jean Morien of the school health department. Apropos of this announcement comes the report that during the present outbreak of influenza more calls for volunteer aid have come from the region served by Fremont high school than any other section of the city.

Assault to Murder, Defendant is Held

Rocca Lila, a poolroom proprietor, who was tried this morning in Oakland police court No. 2 on a charge of assault to commit murder, was held to answer by Acting Judge Robert E. Case. The case was remanded to the Superior Court and bail was fixed at $3000.

STAGE PERMIT DENIED.

Declaring that the Peerless Auto Stage Association, which is carrying passengers between San Jose and Oakland, is giving aid to service and is amply able to meet additional demands, the Railroad Commission today denied the application of John M. Maurer and William M. Sanford for a permit to operate between two cities.

Funeral Held for William Walsh

Funeral services for William Walsh, one of the original sponsors of the movement that concluded in non-partisanship in the conduct of city and county elections, was held this morning from St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. Walsh died on Friday following an illness of several weeks, which developed a weak heart.

He had been a resident of Oakland for 44 years, coming here from Marysville to engage in the grocery business. He had large property interests both here and in Marysville. Besides a widow, Mrs. Catherine Walsh, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Rose Walsh and Miss Elizabeth Walsh.

Irish Commission Calls Conference

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—The American Commission on Irish Independence has just issued a call for a two-days' conference at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco of the State executive committee members to complete organization plans for the sale of Irish Republic bond certificates which begins in this State March 1, concluding March 17. The conference will open next Sunday, February 22, and closes Monday night.

AMERICANS TOLD VOTE BEST CURE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—In the use of the ballot instead of acts of violence was advocated as a medium to bring about needed reforms in a speech delivered at the Palace Hotel today by Frederick J. Koster of the Chamber of Commerce before more than 300 delegates from all sections of the State attending the first meeting of the State organization of the United Americans.

The delegates voted to appropriate a fund of $50,000 to further the work of both the state and national organization, the sums to be divided equally between the United Americans of California and the national organization.

A committee composed of twenty-one delegates from all sections of California is appointed. The creation of an executive council consisting of five delegates at large, who will meet periodically, will also be made.

The meeting was convoked by Archbishop Edward Hanna and was addressed by many speakers who outlined the purposes of the organization and submitted plans for the immediate increase of its scope.

Clemency Refused in Speeding Case

Judge Mortimer Smith refused to grant clemency to William Stone, automobile salesman, who was in the police court this morning on a charge of speeding. He was arrested January 20 by Traffic Officer Britt. "I was merely demonstrating the car to a prospective customer," said Stone. "I was going to show how fast the car could pick up within a block from one mile per hour."

"Well, the officer's stop-watch shows that you picked up to a speed much exceeding the speed limit. You are found guilty and will appear tomorrow for sentence," said the judge.

"I guess I have no kick coming," said Stone. "I said the car on the strength of the demonstration that it did cause me to get pinched."

DUBLIN, Feb. 16.—A train conveying a military guard and arms was held up outside of Dublin Friday night by a large band of armed men, who shot and wounded a soldier, and threw bombs into the train, wounding a corporal and doing much damage. The guard did not reply to the fire, owing to the darkness. The wife of a farmer at Fallowford, resisting masked armed men, was shot and wounded.

in the light of public opinion. For cannot be a substitute for good government. It has failed more than once, even in the memory of the present generation, involving in the future the political doom of its advocates.

HOME RELIEF IS URGED

"If the prediction of General Smut is not to be verified, England sooner or later find it to her interest to commit the destinies of this country to some enlightened statesman who will rely more on justice and good government than on political strategy."

POLICE BALK
HOME ENTRY
IN PIEDMONT

Frightened as he was preparing to Jimmy, a rear window in the home of E. F. Cassidy, at 134 Sunnyside avenue, Piedmont, early this morning, a burglar succeeded in escaping over a bank fence and eluding his pursuers.

Under the Oakland avenue bridge, he was chased by Patrolman P. J. Brady, who fired two shots in the direction of his fleeing quarry in an attempt to stop the man.

At 1 o'clock this morning, Edward Hayes, 131 Sunnyside avenue, Cassidy's next-door neighbor, discovered the man prowling in the yard of the Cassidy place. He telephoned to the police. Brady, who was in charge of the police station, sent out a patrolman to concentrate in the Sunnyside avenue neighborhood, and Brady himself proceeded in a police machine for the residence.

Driving up to the house, Brady's machine was full in motion when the would-be burglar saw the officer. He started to run. Brady jammed on the brakes and was out of the machine before it had stopped.

As the prowler jumped a rear fence, Brady fired in his direction, calling on him to halt. Brady went over the fence in pursuit and fired another shot at the fleeing man as he ran across a vacant lot near the Cassidy place.

Other policemen from the patrol districts arrived in response to the flash signal call and a thorough search of the neighborhood was made.

Witnesses Declare Man Is Drowned
Friends Startled by Reappearance

Except for the fact that Manuel Viera, 217 Henry street, is alive and able to tell of his adventure, a lot of his friends would have been willing to take oath that he had been drowned in the bay.

It was like this, they say. Viera was in a rowboat being pulled by the tug San Pablo 8-7. Suddenly he rose to call out to friends on the tug, the small boat hit a swell and lurched, and he disappeared over the side. Efforts to stop the tug San Pablo halted the engine and it was some time before the tug could be taken over the spot where it was thought Viera had disappeared.

Now when Viera walks the streets, a his neighbors think are friends who take one look and bolt for their homes. There are others who approach him gingerly and pinch him to see if he is real, and some who look at him pleasantly and promise to mend their ways.

Viera wishes it known that he is alive. He says the men on the tugboat were confused when their engine stopped and that they searched the waters a long way from the place where he made his impromptu dive.

partly of Oakland men cruising for pleasure off the foot of West Fourteenth street noticed the puffing Viera swimming doggedly toward the shore. They pulled him aboard their launch.

PHONE CO.
AND UNION
CLAIM GAIN

With most of the "trouble shooters" and installers away from work and with no move started or contemplated by the operators, the strike of electrical workers of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company has settled down into a long wait for resumption of work.

Reports from the various cities of the northwest continue to show a variance between company and union estimates. At the headquarters of the union it is considered that upon today's showing much toward the success or failure of the strike is assured and efforts are being made to secure accurate figures of the number of men who are out in each city.

GIRL OPERATORS WILL NOT GO OUT ON STRIKE.

The company estimates continue to show that there remain at work a large proportion of the workers and officials say that each day will add to the number who will return. It has been announced by Miss Julia Connor, president of the operators, that no strike will be called by the girls.

A somewhat complex situation has arisen in some of the outlying exchanges where wire chiefs have also been employed to "check trouble" and install telephones. As wire chiefs these men have been called out but they have been instructed by the union to obey no company orders asking them to do repair or installation work. The union says that there are a number of these men ready to walk out once they are asked to do the work of strikers.

COMPANY OFFICIAL SAYS CONDITIONS IMPROVING.

In support of his statement that conditions are improving D. P. Fulton has said for the company. "There is not a man out in the state of Washington and the situation in Oregon remains unchanged. In California the greatest defect on the part of the electrical men was at Sacramento and Santa Rosa, but not all the men are out in those two cities."

"Our figures are based on facts, and the telephone company ought to be able to say just how many men remain in their employ or report for work, as the pay roll cannot be tampered with and our figures are taken from that source."

"I believe that the job is cleaned up of electrical workers this morning," said T. C. Vickers, in charge of the union headquarters in San Francisco. "Although it took the early to have the reports from all the places available. The reports I received yesterday and information that is at hand this morning bear out the belief that the strike is complete."

Acbs Police to Hunt for Missing Wife

Reported missing by her husband since January 20, the Oakland police this morning were asked to aid in the search for Mrs. Maude Chaney, 33, who up to the time of her disappearance lived at 675 Tenth street.

Her husband, Jasper Chaney, told the police today that her disappearance followed a long period of melancholy brought about by brooding over family troubles.

Mrs. Chaney was formerly employed at a local store as a saleswoman. Descriptions have been sent to the police departments of neighboring cities.

A mobile overturned on the country highway near here and pinned the occupants beneath the wreck. The O'Connors' two young daughters and Willie Funston, who were also in the machine, were not injured.

Oaklander Says He Abandoned Whisky to Judge's Wonder

"It must be a mighty poor quality of whisky that is abandoned these days," commented United States District Judge Frank Rudkin of San Francisco today in sentencing Gomminco Rivazza, 1103 Seventh street, Oakland, to pay a fine of $200 for illegally having liquor in his possession, following a plea made by his attorney that he had not sought to sell the liquor, but merely had abandoned it to the garbage man because it was unfit for human consumption.

Rivazza entered a plea of guilty last Friday. Today when he appeared for sentence the government claimed that an Oakland shipyard had complained that Rivazza had been selling liquor to shipyard workers.

COLD TRAPS TWO; NEW YORKER DIES

DUBLIN, N. H., Feb. 16.—Charles McVeagh Jr., of New York, a graduate student at Princeton, and son of the counsel for the United States Steel Corporation, is dead of exposure on Mt. Monadnock, during an attempted snowshoe trip the summit in company with Charles Reynolds of New York, a senior at Harvard.

The young men started on their trip Saturday afternoon in excellent weather, but soon a blinding snowstorm and high winds developed and they lost their way in the growing darkness. They were thinly clad.

McVeagh soon showed signs of exhaustion, falling several times and about 8 o'clock dropped unconscious. Reynolds, who also was suffering from exhaustion, protected his companion as best he could, but McVeagh died.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—A cold wave which sent the thermometer down to seven degrees above zero, struck this city today, freezing the mountains of snow and slush in the streets into ice. Conditions were so bad that no prediction could be made as to when traffic conditions would be normal again. Mayor Hylan and members of his official family set a good example by swinging pick and shovel along with the regular force of street cleaners.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Forecasters predicted relief today from Chicago's coldest wave of the winter. The mercury fell to 19 below zero yesterday, and was 5 below early today.

Punchboards Seized by Oakland Police

Punchboards are unlawful and tabu, according to Chief of Police Frank Lynch, and he has ordered streets of 11 persons opening them. Sergeant of Police O'Neill confiscated three of the boards. They were being operated by Mrs. Vivian Hatt, 374 Forty-ninth street, Oakland.

THUG WAKES AND BEATS HIS VICTIM

Awakened early this morning by a burglar who was slipping a hand under the pillow in search of his watch, Clarence Williams, 1137 Seventh street, sprang from his bed to grapple with the marauder. After a desperate rough and tumble fight about the room, in which Williams tried to hold the burglar until help arrived, the criminal succeeded in overpowering him and escaped without having obtained any loot.

Williams describes the man as of powerful physique, but owing to the darkness of the room he was unable to give the police an accurate description and was uncertain whether his assailant was a white man or a negro.

Williams was severely bruised during the encounter and was finally thrown violently to the floor. The burglar dashed out the door and fled down the hallway and the stairs just as help was about to arrive. Chase was given to the fleeing thug but he disappeared in the darkness.

The police were notified and sent a special squad to search for the man.

Thieves broke the lock on the front door of a candy store at 1113 San Pablo avenue, owned by J. Sordell, last night or early this morning, and made away with a supply of candy and $6 in money taken from the cash register. The burglary is thought by the police to be the work of a gang of hoodlums who have perpetrated many similar crimes in the last few weeks.

CANADA OPPOSES U. S. RATIFICATION

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 16.—N. V. Rowell, acting secretary of the state for external affairs, declared emphatically that Canada would never consent to ratification of the peace treaty by the United States if the League of Nations was adopted, either in its original form or with the proposed amendment. Rowell, who is also president of the privy council, spoke at a mass meeting of war veterans.

The League reservation would deprive Canada of her independent voting power in the League of Nations.

"If the United States Senate should ratify the League of Nations, the secretary said, 'Canada will not consent to any impairment of her status and voting rights under the treaty.'"

Sale of Smaller Ships Favored by Bay Cities C. of C.

In a national referendum conducted by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States the Oakland chamber is on record as voting in favor of the proposition for the United States to sell on the best terms obtainable, either to Americans or to foreign bidders, the wooden and steel ships under 6000 tons which were acquired by the government for war purposes. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Martinez, San Jose and San Diego were some of the other chambers favoring the plan. Berkeley, Sacramento and Walnut Creek were among the places not to avail themselves of the opportunity to vote. The referendum was taken among more than 1200 organizations and the proposition was carried by more than six to one.

WOMEN TOLD TO GET IN POLITICS

By CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT, President of the American National Woman Suffrage Association. (Written for the United Press.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Join the political parties. Make your ideas and ideals felt in selecting party platforms and party candidates. The fight has just begun.

That is the message from the women of the United States from the new League of Women Voters, whose permanent organization is to be completed here today.

For half a century the suffragists of the nation have been trying to persuade men to have confidence in us. We have won our enfranchisement but we have not converted every single man to the belief that women can do things as well as men.

So today we have men blocking our way into the center of the political parties where "the wheels go round" and we have women hesitating, doubting themselves—not using the brain, the conscience, the power they have.

The men of the nation are now admitting that women are worthy of the vote. But we women have still to prove that we are qualified for administrative work within the parties.

It is all right to go to political dinners and use party practices and customs; but we must persist in going where we are not so welcome—right into the innermost circles where the candidates are being chosen.

Voluntary Committee Would Safeguard U. S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—A plan to prevent undesirable foreigners from obtaining American citizenship by investigating applicants through voluntary committees was urged last night in a statement issued by the American Security League. The plan was evolved and will be aided by a committee headed by former President William H. Taft, Aiton B. Parker and former Senator George Sutherland of Utah.

The volunteer committee which the 2500 judges of the naturalization courts were urged in letter to appoint "would arrange to make inquiry about and personally interview each applicant and notify the judges in cases where objections were warranted. In addition to 'safeguarding' the country, the committee would train applicants for citizenship."

Youth Arrested As Alleged Blackmailer

HASTINGS, Neb., Feb. 16.—Harley Cobs, a young man well known in this community, is under arrest here on the charge of attempt at blackmail and to extort money from L. J. Brandt, retired banker of Hastings. Brandt on Friday last received a letter threatening the kidnapping of his little daughter unless the sum of $5000 was deposited at a place designated. He turned the letter over to Mayor Stiner and Postmaster Wahlquist and a plan was made with the aid of the police to capture the writer.

A dummy package was deposited at the place designated and when Cobs appeared policemen arrested him without resistance. Mayor Stiner, who gave publicity to the affair, said Cobs had made a complete confession.
